The Message After Devotional:

Psalm 73:2–3, 17 (KJV)

But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well nigh slipped. For I was envious at the foolish, when I saw the prosperity of the wicked. Until I went into the sanctuary of God; then understood I their end.

There are moments when life feels lopsided and faith feels shaky. Like Asaph, we can look at the success of those who ignore God and quietly wonder why our own path feels harder. That tension can unsettle us more than most will admit. However, the writer showed what happens after that tension is brought into God's presence. Psalm 73 reveals that Envy Distorts Perception as our steps begin to slip, Comparison Disrupts Peace as our hearts grow restless, and Gods Presence Restores Perspective as the sanctuary reframes what we see and how we see it. The clarity we long for does not come from analyzing life on our own but from approaching the God who sees the whole picture. The message after His presence is always clearer than the confusion before it.

Prayer:

Lord, we ask for steady hearts and renewed perspective. Help us see through Your eyes and trust Your wisdom in every season. Amen.
